What's inside	9 screenshots of the text thread, in order

I've pulled the text messages between me and Steve (the builder) into one file so you can read them all in order. They cover from when we first agreed the price for the kitchen (5 February 2026), through the month or so of him not showing up, his sudden demand for £3,500 in extras, and the threatening message he sent me on 8 April. I have NOT edited any of the messages. The screenshots are straight from my iPhone.

If anything is hard to read or you'd like the originals, just let me know and I'll send them across.

A quick note from me

02 May 2026

Hi,

Thanks for agreeing to take a look at this. I'm sending over the text messages between me and Steve (the builder) so you can see how the kitchen job went and what was said along the way. I'd rather you have everything in one place than have me trying to summarise it from memory.

A few practical points it might help to know up front:

- The screenshots are taken from my own iPhone, from the Messages app. I haven't edited anything. Where a conversation runs longer than one phone screen I've taken several screenshots in a row so nothing is missed.
- The contact saved on my phone as 'Steve Caldwell (Caldwell Renovations)' is the mobile number 07761 234 588. That's the same number Steve gave me when he first came round to look at the kitchen, and the same number every one of his texts to me has come through on.
- I'm happy to forward the original screenshots, or to show you the messages on the phone itself, whichever is more useful for you.
- The bit I most want you to look at is the message on Wednesday 8 April (the last screenshot). That's the one that really worried me and is the reason I got in touch.

If anything doesn't make sense or you need more from me, just give me a ring or drop me an email. Best times to catch me are evenings after about 6pm or weekends.

Thanks again,

N Whitlock

That's everything

Thanks again for taking a look. If you need the original screenshots, want to see the messages on the phone itself, or have any follow-up questions, just call or email me on the number/address on the front page (07931 442 117, neil.whitlock@outlook.com). Happy to send anything else over.
